

Elm Creek XC Series Race Report: Week 3, December 19, 2018

'Twas the week before Christmas and all 'round the Park the skiers were flying though the foggy, damp dark. Nick Gardner took the men's freestyle race a mere 30 seconds off the course record and nearly a minute in front of 2nd and 3rd places, McEwen Rodefled and Laszlo Alberti, respectively. Hot on their heels was Ingrid Thyr for the women's freestyle win, with Emily Muellner and Julie Garretson taking the rest of the podium. Gardner made it a double header, taking the classic win, with Maria Hauer staying ahead of Brandy Stewart for the women's top podium spot, Stewart less than 10 seconds behind her. Emily Muellner took 3rd for her second podium of the night. Filling in the men's tier were McEwen Rodfeld in 2nd (again), and Artie Huber double-poling like a madman to 3rd. There will be races next week, December 26, as well as January 2; remember that the first race of the New Year is the Fulton Team Night!
